You can apply into 200-level studio courses in Performance, Directing, Playwriting, and Production & Design directly out of high school. To be admitted into DRM202H1 Directing I, you are required to complete a letter or interest submission. Priority is given to students intending to major or specialize in Drama. Selection is also contingent on you receiving final admission to a degree program at the University of Toronto, St. George Campus, Humanities (TAH), and upon you accepting your offer of admission by the deadline stated on your offer of admission. Visit your Join UofT account for more details.

DRM202H1 F Directing I is one of four entry points into the Drama Centre. An introduction to major concepts and artistic practices in directing, for the theatre, emphasizing theoretical and historical issues with supplemental directing exercises. The course focuses on different styles, ideas, and goals of theatre directors in their relations to actors, audiences, and broad cultural and political contexts.

- Enrollment: up to 20 students

Application Deadlines:
Round 1: March 10, 2018
Round 2: August 10, 2018

How to Apply

1. Register at https://drama-apply.chass.utoronto.ca/login to complete the online application form.

2. Select DRM202H and Upload a one-page letter of introduction outlining a bit about yourself as well as your interest in taking this course and being in the drama, theatre and performance studies program. Please also tell us one moment in the theatre that you will never forget.

3. You will be assigned an interview time in late March/April (or August for Round 2).

Important Notes:

- If admitted into one of the above courses, first-year students must enroll in one of the following foundations co-requisite courses during the 2018/19 school year: DRM101Y1 or UNI102Y1

- Selected students will be notified and enrolled in the program in July 2018

- Students can apply for multiple Studio Entry Points, but are only permitted to enroll in one if they are in first year.

If you have any questions, please contact:
Colleen Osborn
Undergraduate Administrative Coordinator
c.osborn@utoronto.ca